FISCAL COURT NAMES RECEIVER

To Handle the Big Turnpike Bond Fund.

BRIDGE COMMITTEE

Confers With Council Committee Relative to Seventh Street Bridge.

The fiscal court spent all day Tuesday trying to decide what to do with the $107,000 resulting from the bond issue of July 1, for turnpikes. The five local banks submitted a joint proposition to pay 3 per cent. on $50,000 time deposits for 6 months or more and the other $57,000 to be deposited equally with the five banks subject to check.

The court, late in the afternoon, went into executive session and declined the proposition, but elected Sheriff David Smith receiver for the fund and directed him to deposit the money with the three banks offering the best terms. The plan will leave out two of the banks and what will be the effect remains to be seen.

The court will meet again next Tuesday.

A bridge committee composed of County Attorney Duffy and Magistrate Morris and Parker was appointed to confer with a committee from the city council in regard to improvements on the West Seventh street bridge. The committee met at six o'clock and accepted a plan submitted by the Champion Bridge Co. and at another meeting at 8 o'clock received bids, subject to the approval of the council and fiscal court. The bids of the Champion Bridge Co., for the iron, and by the Oriental Construction Co., for the masonry, were the lowest and best.

DYNAMITE THREATENED

Todd County Farmer Warned Not to Thresh Wheat.

Ben Miller, a prominent farmer of Todd county, near Elkton, came near losing his wheat crop last year because he could not get it threshed on account of his being out of the tobacco association. This year he bought a thresher of his own and threshed his own crop Monday. Tuesday morning he found a notice stuck on his gate post telling him that he had been allowed to thresh his own crop, but if he tried to thresh for anybody else his machine would be blown up with dynamite. He will continue to thresh, in spite of the warning.

THE EXPECTED HAS HAPPENED

Drastic Action to be Taken by Insurance Companies.

NOT INSURE TOBACCO

In Districts Tobacco Overrun by Night Riders And Incendiaries.

The Louisville Herald says: Announcement was made yesterday by Claude Snyder, Secretary of the Kentucky Board of Fire Underwriters, of drastic action which has been taken by the fire insurance companies doing business in this state, as the result of the incendiary fires perpetrated in various parts of the state, in which tobacco losses were involved.

In brief, the companies have announced that losses of that sort will hereafter not be paid, and in some instances where "night riders" have burned barns the companies have refused to pay. They intend to use the utmost effort to prevent such fires from continuing, and to discourage their continuance by refusal to pay the losses. Many of the companies are refusing to write such business.

A meeting is to be held here July 17 by representatives of the various tobacco districts, the announced purpose being the organization of one general body to control the output of the tobacco. It is likely that at this meeting the insurance companies will put definitely before the growers the seriousness of the situation, and will ask that the growers, for their own protection, take steps to prevent incendiary fires from occurring.

The resolution concludes as follows:

"As a result of the incendiarism which occurred last year, all the companies which had heretofore written large lines on tobacco have curtailed their operations along this line; many have ceased business of this class in all except the large cities; while others have abandoned it altogether. The petty acts which have been committed in the way of destruction of plant beds have not tended to reassure us, and it is the sense of this association that, unless confidence can be restored, the companies will refuse indemnity to all handlers of tobacco of all classes."
